[Narrator]: Where the hell have you been? Everywhere I look, you're not where I need you to be. It's not my imagination. Now, where the hell do you go every day?

[Katherine]: To the bathroom, sir.

[Narrator]: To the bathroom. To the damn bathroom. For 40 minutes a day? What are you doing in there? We're T minus zero here. I put a lot of faith in you.

[Katherine]: There's no bathroom for me here.

[Narrator]: What do you mean there's no bathroom for you here?

[Katherine]: There is no bathroom. There are no colored bathrooms in this building or any building outside the West Campus. We're just half a mile away. Did you know that? I have to walk to Timbuktu just to relieve myself. And I can't use one of the handy bikes. Picture that, Mr. Harrison. My uniform, skirt below my knees, my heels, and a simple string of pearls. Well, I don't own pearls. Lord knows you don't pay coloreds enough to afford pearls! And I work like a dog, day and night, living off a coffee from a pot none of you want to touch! So, excuse me if I have to go to the restroom a few times a day.
